THIRTY-SEVEN VOTERS.

Small Audience Heard Republicans Speeches In Third Precinct.

By hard sersiching the Republicans of the Third precinct managed to get together thirty-seven voters at their meeting at the Seventegath ward meeting house last evening. It was not a very joyous-affair. A lot of small burgs of the ward, realizing flis, fried to higher, a little excitement into it, and they did likely best by throwing stones at their meeting to the halfs to keep the caterwalling in the halfs to keep the caterwalling in the halfs to keep the search of the faithful thirty-seven confined themselves almost entirely to national issues and prated at great length of what the Republican party had done for the country. This was the burden of the song of Candidate Morse, the first appeaker, as it was better the speech of D. H. Twomey, who warred marters a bit by praising up the spiese of the little was taken up with an attack on George Whitnier, who, he said was no friend of the labering man, and Stephen Tyne, whon, he carried matters a bit by praising up the purises. Then came J. S. Daveler, one of Mr. P. H. Laman's employees, Most of his lime was laken up with an attack on George Whitnier, who, he suid was no friend of the labering man, and Stephen Tyne, whon, he charged with working the policied parties. Councilman Callister attempted to allow the surface and manuscript that

QUESTION OF

Waterworks Injunction Case Argued In Supreme Court.

TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

IMPORTANT RULING ON STAT-UTE OF LIMITATIONS.

Supreme Court Holds That if Complaint Is Filed Within Limit of Time Action Is Not Barred, Although Summons May Not Issue Till Long After.

The injunction case of W. A. Nelden J. E. Dooly and M. H. Walker against Mayor Clark and the city council was argued on appeal from Judge Hiles' court yesterday in the supreme court The argument of appellants the and the council, was presented by City Attorney Hall, while Autories states B. Stephens, who was retained list summer through the efforts of F. A. Hale, a member of the board of public three who sued out the writ of Injunction.

This is the case wherein Mr. Neiden and his Republican associates obtained an order from Judge Hiles restraining the superintendent of waterworks from proceeding with the work of improving the pipe distribution system, for the expense of which the council appropriated about $33,000. Notwithstanding that the city engineer was given inspection and supervisory charge of the work, the board of jubile works, of which the city engineer is chairman, contended that it should have full charge, letting it out by contract. The potitioners for the restraining order went into court with the board's contention.

After argument the case was submit-ted. A decision will not likely be ren-dered for some time. STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS.

Limit Ends.

The supreme court yesterday made it plain that the filing of a complaint com-mences a civil action and that the stat-ute of limitations does not run to the mences a civil action and that he seaute of limitations does not run to the time of issuing a summons on complaint. The care calling for this decision is entitled Aaron Keyser, respondent vs. Samuel J. Follock, appellant, the opinion affirming the judgment of the Third district courr being written by Justice Baskin and concurred in by his colleagues on the bench.
Keyser, the plaintiff, sued Pollock to recover on a promissory note due Feb.
1, 1882, by filing a complaint in the district court clerk's office on Nev. 23, 1895.
On account of the non-payment in advance of the clerk's fees, the complaint bore the endorsement. Don't issue till fees paid—D. C. D." On Dec.
8, 1897, the summons was issued, and twelve days after defendant's counsel came into court and demurred to the complaint on the plea that it was barred by the statutory limitation of four years. At a later date defendant's attorney asked leave to withdraw the demurrer and object to the sufficiency and revularity of the sumnons, through the part of defendant to object to the validity of the summons by not speclally appearing at first for that purpose, constituted a walver of objection. Defendant, it was held, had taken a step in filing the demurrer by which he got regularly into court, whether or not process was served upon him. While the complaint was filed before the action was outlined the summons was not issued till after the limitation expired, but the action was nevertheless commenced by filing the complaint.

When a defendant, the opinion held, enters appearance in court and demurs he becomes an active participant in the action commenced, and by voluntary submission to the jurisdiction of the caue. This Pollock did, in the opinion of the supreme justice, and therefore
